

Language Lab

As part of the Home Of Languages, the Language Lab provides assistance to all foreign language and literature departments in the selection and development of AV and multimedia courseware for their programs. The facility is equipped to support individual and group learning at AV/computer workstations, as well as classroom instruction via a network distribution system.